Housing and homelessness

akt - LGBTQ+ housing support for ages 16-25

Housing advice and practical support for LGBTQ+ young people facing homelessness or an unsafe home.

Coverage: UK; regional availability varies

Next step: Start a live chat or refer yourself and explain where you are staying now.

Who: LGBTQ+ people aged 16-25 living in the UK, including people sofa surfing or in a hostile home.

How to join or get help: Use the provider's live chat or complete the self-referral form. Check the form for availability in your region.

Check before going: akt checks whether its support fits your circumstances. Support and accommodation depend on assessment, local availability and capacity; a place is not guaranteed.

Recorded source check: 2026-10-25 - akt

Apply for council housing - the housing register

Find the local council route to apply for a council home or join the housing register.

Coverage: England; local council rules apply

Next step: Find your council's housing register and check whether you can apply.

Who: People looking for longer-term social housing; the council checks its local eligibility and priority rules.

How to join or get help: Enter a postcode on GOV.UK to find the council application route.

Check before going: There is usually a waiting list and a home is not guaranteed. If you have nowhere to stay now, contact the council's homelessness team instead of relying on a register application.
